JJK Palace Roles:

These roles are meant to be played with speed linear stacking, draw stacking, 2 reset, and 10 discard rules as the default. JOKERS and Rule cards will be treated the same by the rules. The basic palace rules are you can play any card that has a higher or equal value to the current top card in the discard piles. Once the draw pile is gone you can start playing your face-up cards then you can start playing your face-down cards. Each player by default has 3 face-up and 3 face-down cards you win when you run out of all your cards. You can only play 1 card per turn unless you have a card that matches the value of the top card, is 1 above the value of the top card, or you have a free card. At the start of the game a total of 3 decks of cards is shuffled together along with extra jokers being added (rule cards act as JOKERS). Each player is dealt 3 face-down cards then they are dealt 6 cards which they place 3 as face-up cards. A player's hand must always be at least 3 cards unless an ability allows otherwise or the draw pile is gone. There are 2 draw piles and 2 discard piles. By Default you can only play on 1 of the 2 discard piles every round. Games tend to last 4-5 rounds.

Whenever a player has a JOKER they have the option to delete it from the game entirely at the cost of their turn to upgrade one of their skills. Ability removal can't target a base ability if that ability is evolved and if a base ability is deleted it can't be upgraded.

Clashing: If anyone starts a clash then anyone with a move that can clash can instantly use it to clash, if that ability is an upgraded ability they can decrease its weight by 1 to instantly use it. Both players draw a card then add their "weight" onto the value they get. They can decrease their weight by 1 to draw a new card. If 2 players clash and the loser has 4 weight less than the winner or the loser's value is 16 less than the winner that player loses the game. If it is 3 weight less or 10 value less, the loser is turn canceled. If it is 1 weight less or 2 value less the effect of the ability, if applicable, is cut in half(round down). I-T counts as 2 weight, I-S counts as 1 weight. I-D makes you choose your second greatest value card; other immunities don't protect you. When a player uses an ability that clashes it applies to everyone.

Domain Clashing: If anyone opens a domain, anyone with a domain even if it is an upgraded ability they don't have unlocked can instantly open theirs to clash, if you do not have your domain unlocked you can decrease its refinement by 1, expend a joker you have in your hand, or exchange one of your already upgraded abilities to use it. Every single round that passes while clashing the refinement of all domains inside will decrease by 1, if it reaches 0 then it instantly breaks. If anyone gets turn canceled or picks up the pile their domain instantly shatters. If your refinement is greater than your opponents then their domain instantly shatters at the end of the round. You can choose to every turn draw a card and if it is a royal card your refinement won't decrease from the next effect that would decrease it, if it is a JOKER it increases, and if it is a 2-5 your refinement decreases. While domains are clashing their effects are disabled. If three or more domains are open at a time if someone who isn't clashing has a joker they can use it to decrease the refinement of one of the domains. If a domain is "open" then it can not break during a clash however if the opponent's refinement is more then the effect of their domain will still land.

Transformations can't be copied.

If something would permanently stunlock the game or a player it won't happen.

Character names: 16 + bold. Character unevo abilities: 14 and gray. Descriptions and evos: 11 black.

Adding a new rule to the game must not do any of the following: You can not change anything involving a player being permanently removed or having turns canceled or do anything which causes a player to instantly win or doing anything that specifies a specific player(however it can only affect them as long as it doesn't remove more than half of their abilities) or instantly ends the game or disables all of a character's abilities or removes the abilities of jokers.

There is a universal cooldown of 2 rounds on someone changing the turn order/skipping to their turn. If ANYONE skips it to their turn nobody else can for 2 rounds after it gets set to that players turn.

OTHER STUFF

- if something hits everyone, it targets each player
- disguising yourself as someone else allows you to use a master of your choice's command spells

Soul Swap: Two players swap all their cards.

Summons: You can only “summon” 1 player at a time. If a summons “master” loses the game the summon loses the game on the next round. Summons cant summon other players.

Whenever a pile is destroyed all abilities affecting that pile end and the pile that takes its place is considered a new pile.
Multi Use Rules that should be referred back to (by default assume it's 1 per round):

Immunity: Makes this player immune to negative effects for a set time. A negative effect can include having your turn canceled, swapping cards, and more. Should the player with immunity want any of these rules to affect them they are allowed to. There are different forms of immunity that work differently. I-T is true immunity and it blocks everything for as long as it lasts. I-D has you compare your highest value card with the highest value card of the person applying the negative effect to you and if they have a higher value card the effect works on you otherwise it is ignored. I-S allows you to have immunity for a set amount of hits however this will naturally never run out until summon breaks all the shields. Immunity does not make you immune to picking up the discard pile however I-T and I-S will allow you to only have to pick up 1.

Aha instant: At the start of every round all punchline points accumulated gets divided (rounded down) by the amount of players in the game, all members of Elation being able to use their ‘Aha’ skill with the clash weight of the number capping at a weight of 3.

Stack Destroy: When stacking at least 2 cards of the same type it will destroy the discard pile same as a 10 would which will let you set the base again. This is not a default ability unless specified by an ability.

Card Swapping: At the start of a player's turn if their character allows them to swap a specific card they can swap that card for any face up card or a card in the discard pile or destroyed pile.

Under Play: You can play one of your cards that is 1 lower value than the card on top of the discard pile.

Skip Play: This ability lets you play a card that is within 2 values from the top of the discard pile. This ability does stack with under play.

Value Inversion: Whenever the user plays the specified card, the value order of cards will be inverted. So, a 3 will be treated as an Ace, and an Ace will be treated as a 3. Doubles all value increases or decreases while values are inverted.

Turn Reversal: Inverses the turn order which will let the person who played last before this player get the first move then it will follow the normal order of the game.

Follow Stacking: When any person plays a card that you have you can stack your card on top of it by default 1 time per round. No follow stacking while turn canceled.

Card Decay: This player has a cap of 3 cards in their hand. Any extra this player can put in the deleted pile. Can only be used 1 time per turn. If this player has 3 cards in their hand once per round they can discard a face-up card.

Quick Grab: If the type of card specified be played you can quickly take it.

Full Hand: This player can directly play cards from their face-down and face-up cards when stacking. (this player can only use 3 cards per round this way).

Top Card Discard: The top card in the discard pile is transferred to the destroyed pile. Limited to 1 per turn unless specified otherwise.

Turn Cancel: This user can stop 1 player from moving every round, however, nobody can turn cancel them or remove their effects for the next 2 rounds.

Free Cards: A free card can be played on top of any card. Only 1 can be played per turn unless an ability specifies otherwise.

Black Flash: For 1 round this player can upgrade one of their abilities without a joker.

BS: This is a gamemode which lets you play cards face down. If you play a card face down and lie about it and someone says you lied then you must pick up the discard pile. Should someone say you lie about the card you placed and you didn't then they will be forced to pick up the discard pile. If the user has I-T while using this and they only play 1 or 2 cards at once in bs mode instead of picking up the full discard pile they will just pick up the cards they played that round and draw a card if they can.

Meters: A meter is a currency certain characters have which allows them to use abilities.

Value Decrease: By default decreases the value of all cards in play by 1. If any should reach a value of 1 or 0 then it destroys that card and all cards underneath it.

Value Increase: By default raises the value of all cards in play by 1. If any cards should go over the value of an ace it allows any value card to be played on it next even if the person who played the card and raised the value hasn't ended their turn.

Hand Lock: It prevents someone from drawing up to their current maximum hand size and stops them from changing it for the next 2 rounds by default.

Pile Lock: Choose one of the 2 piles to prevent from being destroyed for the next round until it returns to your turn.

Chain Play: Once per turn you can play a card that is within 3 values higher or 3 values lower than the current top card.

Discard Swap: Choose one of the cards in your hand and put it at the bottom of the discard pile of your choice and then pick up the top card in that pile. By default can only be used once per turn.

Sneak Peek: Allows this player to view the top 2 cards in the draw pile and put them back in any order.

Swap 1: By default once per turn after playing a card if you draw a new one you can choose one other player to swap that card with. If that card would be your highest value card you swap with their highest value, if it would be your lowest value it would swap with their lowest value, otherwise they get to choose one card from their hand to swap with you that isn't their highest or lowest value. If you can see their hand then you can choose whichever to swap.

Pile Boost: Add the value of the discard pile you are not playing on to the top card of the one you are playing on. If this causes the value to go over that of an Ace then you can play whatever card you wish on top. By default can only be used once per round.

Burn One: Discard one card from your face-up cards to the discard pile. After doing this another player of your choice has to give you one of their cards.

Reveal: Everyone has to reveal one card of their choice. If you can see someone's hand via an ability you can choose to reveal a card of your choice on top of what they choose. This lasts until the card is played and this can only be used once per round.

Swap Pair: You and another player have to choose 2 cards from your hand to swap. If you choose your highest value card they also have to choose theirs and if you choose your lowest value card they also have to choose theirs. Can only be used once per round.

Rescue Draw: By default once every 2 rounds you can choose to draw 2 cards from the draw pile or if the draw pile is gone you can take 1 card of your choice from the destroyed pile.

Stack Steal: When someone stack destroys, you can take one card from that pile and add it to your hand.

Top Swap: Swap the top values of both discard piles. Can only be used once per round.

Tie Break: Choose a discard pile; the next player to play on that pile must match the exact value of the top card or forfeit their turn.

Peek Swap: View the top 3 cards of the draw pile and swap one of your cards for one of it's cards. This can only be used once per round.

Card effects are the following(only static and frozen can be applied on others and aren't counted as negative effects):

Heavy Cards: This card is pinned down and cards under it can not be picked up or discarded. A player can pick up(not via plie pick up) or discard the card by giving their turn If this card is picked up or discarded the cards underneath it will no longer be pinned but will not be picked up with it. A card will lose its heaviness after being picked up or discarded.

Sticky Cards: Sticky cards stick to the card below and above them. Anything that happens to this card happens to all cards attached to it. A card can still be linked in a player's hand and face up/down cards if this is done both cards have to be playable in either pile for them to be played.

Static: If for any reason a player with static doesn't place a card they lose their next turn. A card with static on it will apply static on everyone if a wet card is played on it, will explode if a burning card is played on it, will apply static to every card it is sticked too, will turn cancel the next player who plays if a heavy card is on top of it, will disable an ability from each player for every round a poison card is on top of it, is an exploding card is played on top of it then it will destroy both the exploding card and static card then turn cancel the player playing the exploding card, will remove the ability to draw for 1 round for every player with static on them and apply frozen to them if a frozen card is played on top of this one Poison: Poisoned cards and cards they touch get moved to the deleted pile on the next turn or when stacked on. JOKERs can't be poisoned.

Burned: When playing a burned card the 5 first cards underneath are sent to the destroyed pile, top card discarding a burned card doesn't consume the ability, if top card discarding a burn card you can no longer play burned cards that turn. If playing a burned card on top of another burned card it destroys both piles and lets you replace the bottom for both and choose which to play on.

Frozen: A frozen player loses stacking. By default it lasts 3 rounds. A frozen card blocks stacking on top of it and freezes the person who picks it up. If a burning card is played on top of this player then the entire pile gets destroyed and the player who did that gains an extra turn along with all their frozen cards being destroyed, will turn cancel whoever plays a wet card on top of this card along with freezing them, will stop cards from being sticky, will shatter if a heavy card is played on top of it, will instantly be destroyed if an exploding card explodes, will cause every player with static on them to get turn canceled and cause static to be applied to them if a static card is played on top of this card.

Wet: If a player is wet any reactions between card effects can happen to them if the card effect is applied to them or if a wet card reacts with another card effect then if applicable the reactions effect will be applied to this player.

Bleeding only lasts for 1 round by default.

Exploding: Exploding cards turn cancel the person who destroys them bypasses I-D and I-S not I-T. They also will explode in 2 rounds naturally destroying the discard pile, the person who set the card can manually detonate it whenever if done on their turn they can no longer play exploding cards if it happens naturally the player who set it gains an extra turn. If burned they instantly explode and turn cancel everyone except the player who set it for 1 round whoever applied the burn gets an extra use of top card discard with immunity to the turn cancel.

Quicken: Applies poison to this card and the 2 cards next to this card both the turn it is played and the turn poison destroys it. Gets buffed by any abilities that buff static or poison. When using a dendro ability on someone with static Quicken apply.

Lunar bloom: Lunar Bloom's first ability lets this player draw an extra card at the start of their turn. Lunar Bloom's second ability grants them 1 verdant dew every time someone picks up a card while having 3 or more cards. You only gain verdant dew from this ability at the start of your first turn on the next round. You can also use the elemental abilities of primordial if you pass up being able to use your lunar bloom abilities for the round.

Durin:

Steps of Alchemy:

This player can use abilities from both the Mini Durin and Abyssal Durin movesets however each ability equates to the ability in the same position in the other moveset. Every time this player plays a red card they must lose an ability from Abyssal Durin and gain one from Mini Durin and vice versa for black cards. If this player is in the steps of Nigredo or Albedo and they play a red card while having all of Mini Durin's abilities or a black card while having all of Abyssal Durin's ability they lose the rest of their turn and completely flip their moveset. Once this player has upgraded and unupgraded each ability once this player progresses in the steps of Alchemy if this player has both unlocked at once it fulfills that abilities requirement to upgrade your alchemy. This player starts as Nigredo and their element is whichever they have more skills for currently if they have an equal amount they get both. For this player to ascend from Rubedo to The Philosophers Stone it requires them to expend 4 jokers. You can only ascend your alchemy once a round after getting to Albedo.

Nigredo: The first time it's this player's turn they completely gain Abyssal Durin's moveset. This player gains the ability to turn cancel anyone when having an ability from Abyssal Durin's moveset and when having any abilities from Mini Durin's moveset this player can use Burn 1 once per round and play a burned card once per round.

Albedo: The first time it's this player's turn they completely gain Mini Durin's moveset. This player gains the ability to permanently have an ability from Mini Durin's moveset and its reflection in Abyssal Durin's moveset every time they progress in the stages of Alchemy. Whenever this player has an ability from Abyssal Durin unlocked they can access all abilities granted by previous alchemy steps this ability is permanently unlocked despite the level of alchemy.

Gold: This player gains the ability to "create" a card every round at the start of their turn. This lets them take a card from the destroyed pile and add it to their hand. While this player has the entirety of their moveset as Mini Durin they can use 2 multi use rules every round. While this player has the entirety of their moveset as Abyssal Durin they can use 2 card effects every round.

Rubedo: This player permanently gains an extra turn. When this player's entire moveset is in Mini Durin form this player can swap any of their face-down cards with a card in the deleted pile this can only be used twice per round. This capture will bypass anything besides not being in the game.
